

<http://www.sudantribune.com/spip.php?article36537>

During the 21 years of North-South war churches in the north experienced mistreatment including confiscation of their buildings by the government.

The US commission for religious freedom has stepped up its mission to advocate for religious freedom in the country as well as in other parts of the globe.